

Lies, damn lies and statistics, you say? Some of our customers used to be cynical, too. Before they were customers. But then they started sending us these numbers. Telling us that the results of using our best practices, integrated tools and services exceeded their expectations. Cutting test time, decreasing development cycles and reducing bugs. Freeing their teams from the obstacles that hinder software development. Need more evidence? There's plenty available at www.rational.com/customersuccess4.

be liberated